

This page has been automatically translated. Please refer to the page in French if needed.

Does a European national employed in France have the same rights as a French employee?

Verified 18 July 2024 - Directorate for Legal and Administrative Information (Prime Minister)

Yes, if he is hired in France as an employee, the national of a country of the European Union (EU) or the European Economic Area (EEA) has the same obligations and rights as a French employee.